Moreover, Financial Instruments shall refer to all/any financial products provided by the Company, including Contracts for Difference (hereinafter the “CFDs”) as well as transferable Securities.

4 General Identification of Conflicts of Interest

When the Company deals with or on behalf of the Client, the Company (or an associate or some other person connected with the Company) may have an interest, relationship or arrangement in relation to the transaction, concerned or that conflicts with the Client’s interest.

The Company hereby identifies and discloses a range of situations and circumstances which may give rise to a conflict of interest and potentially but not necessarily be detrimental to the interests of one or more Clients.

For the purposes of identifying the types of conflicts of interest that may arise in the course and/or as result of providing investment services or ancillary services or investment activities or otherwise, whose existence may damage the interest of a Client, the Company takes into account, whether the Company or a relevant person, is in any of the following situations:

- a. The Company or a Relevant Person has an interest in the outcome of a service provided to the Client or of a transaction carried out on behalf of the Client, which is distinct from the Client’s interest in that outcome.
- b. The Company or a relevant person has a financial or other incentive to favour the interest of another Client or group of Clients over the interests of the Client.
- c. The Company or a relevant person receives or will receive from a person other than the Client an inducement in relation to a service provided to the Client, in the form of monies, goods or services, other than the standard commission or fee for that service.
- d. The Company or a Relevant Person carries on the same business as the Client.
- e. The Company provides a service to a Client and the Company has a material interest in the transaction.
- f. The Company may act as principal for the Client in relation to the transactions.

- g. The Company is the sole execution Venue for the execution of the Clients' orders, therefore, any opened position in a financial instrument with the Company may be closed with the Company.
- h. The Company or a relevant person is likely to make a financial gain, or avoid a financial loss, at the expense of the Client.
- i. A transaction is effected in financial instruments in respect of which the Company may benefit from a commission, fee, or non-monetary benefit payable otherwise than by the Client.

The above are only indicative criteria/situations for identifying potential conflicts of interest that may arise.*

While it is not feasible to define precisely or create an exhaustive list of all relevant conflicts of interest that may arise, as per the current nature, scale and complexity of the Company's business, the following list includes circumstances which constitute or may give rise to a conflict of interest entailing a material risk of damage to the interests of one or more Clients, as a result of providing investment services:

- a. The Company may be advising and providing other services to associates or other Clients of the Company who may have interests in Financial Instruments or Underlying Assets, which are in conflict or in competition with the Client's interests.
- b. The Company may have an interest in maximizing trading volumes in order to increase its commission revenue, which is inconsistent with the Client's personal objective of minimizing transaction costs.
- c. The Company may receive commissions and/or other inducements from its Liquidity provider for the transmission of Client Orders.
- d. Has an interest in the outcome of a service provided to the Client or of a transaction carried out on behalf of the Client, which is distinct from the Client's interest in that outcome.
- e. Has a financial or other incentive to favour the interest of another Client or group of Clients over the interests of the Client.
- f. The Company may have relationships with many third-party product providers/financial institutions who may remunerate the Company via inducements/commissions/fees and the Company may favour one over another in the recommendation process if higher inducements/commissions/fees are provided.
- g. The Company or a Relevant Person may receive or pay inducements to or from third parties due to the referral of new Clients or Clients' trading in the form of monies, goods, or services, other than the standard commission or fee for that service.
- h. The Company provides a service to a Client and the Company has a material interest in the transaction.
- i. A transaction is effected in financial instruments in respect of which the Company may benefit from a commission, fee, or non-monetary benefit payable otherwise than by the Client. Any market information, training and discussions as regards possible market trends should not be construed as trading/investment advice. It is the Client's responsibility to perform its own market research before entering into any position.

- j. The Company may have an interest in maximizing trading volumes in order to increase its commission revenue, which is inconsistent with the Client's personal objective of minimizing transaction costs.
- k. The Company may act as principal for the Client in relation to the transactions.
- l. The Company may be matching the Client's Order with that of another Client by acting on such other Client's behalf as well as on the Client's behalf.
- m. The Company trades its proprietary positions and at the same time has knowledge of Client's future transactions via stop limit orders, as applicable.
- n. The Company is the counterparty to its Clients' positions (i.e., act as Principal) and therefore stands to profit if the Client loses.
- o. The Company may be matching the Client's orders with that of another Client by acting on such other Client's behalf as well as on the Client's behalf.

It should be noted that the above circumstances which constitute or may give rise to a conflict of interest, are not necessarily detrimental to the interests of Clients.

5 General Procedures and Controls for Preventing and Managing Conflicts of Interest

In general, the procedures and controls that the Company follows to manage the identified conflicts of interest, include, but are not limited to, the following:

- a. The Company undertakes ongoing monitoring of business activities to ensure that internal controls are appropriate.
- b. The Company undertakes effective procedures and measures to monitor its execution arrangements in order to ensure the best possible result when executing its Clients' orders, which are set out in the 'Order Execution Policy' and 'Execution Quality Summary Statement' on the Company's website in the Legal Documents section. Legal Documents
- c. The Company undertakes effective procedures to prevent or control the exchange of information between Relevant Persons engaged in activities involving a risk of a conflict of interest where the exchange of that information may harm the interests of one or more Clients.
- d. The separate supervision of Relevant Persons whose principal functions involve carrying out activities on behalf of, or providing services to, Clients whose interest may conflict, or who otherwise represent different interests that may conflict, include those of the Company.
- e. The removal of any direct link between the remuneration of Relevant Persons principally engaged in one activity and the remuneration of, or revenues generated by, different relevant persons principally engaged in another activity, where a conflict of interest may arise in relation to those activities.
- f. Measures to prevent or limit any person from exercising inappropriate influence over the way in which a Relevant Person carries out investment or ancillary services or activities.
- g. Measures to prevent or control the simultaneous or sequential involvement of a Relevant Person in separate investment services where such involvement may impair the proper management of conflicts of interest. Such measures include, but are not limited to, the following:

- A “need-to-know” policy governing the dissemination of confidential or inside information within the Company.
 - Chinese walls restricting the flow of confidential and inside information within the Company, and physical separation of departments.
 - Procedures governing access to electronic data.
 - Segregation of duties that may give rise to conflicts of interest if carried on by the same individual.
 - Personal account dealing requirements applicable to Relevant Person in relation to their own investments.
 - A gifts and inducements log registering the solicitation, offer or receipt of certain benefits.
 - The prohibition of external business interests conflicting with the interests of the Company as far as the Company’s officers and employees are concerned unless prior Board approval is obtained.
- h. A policy designed to limit the conflict of interest arising from the giving and receiving of inducements.
- i. Appointment of Internal Auditor to ensure that appropriate systems and controls are maintained and report to the Company’s Board of Directors.
- j. Establishment of the “four-eyes” principle in supervising the Company’s activities.
- k. The removal of any direct link between the remuneration of Relevant Persons principally engaged in one activity and the remuneration of, or revenues generated by, different Relevant Persons principally engaged in another activity, where a conflict of interest may arise in relation to those activities.
- l. Establishment of Personal Transactions Policy.
- m. Staff members are required to immediately notify the Company in case they perceive that a conflict of interest may be created due to the undertaking of a specific task/work.
- n. Advises/recommendations on transactions are prohibited.
- o. Staff members are forbidden to accept gifts, promotions, discounts or any other monetary or benefit in kind from Clients or third parties, which may create conflicts of interest.
- p. Gifts of low value to Relevant Persons may be accepted after approval from the Company.
- q. In circumstances not covered by the points above and given the nature of a conflict-of-interest situation, the Compliance Officer and/or the Senior Management shall decide whether to allow a transaction by notifying the Client, or not allow the transaction all together.
- r. Employees are prohibited from accepting gifts or other inducements from any person that cannot be regarded as justifiable in all circumstances.
- s. Procedures designed to limit the conflict of interest arising from the giving and receiving of inducements unless designed to enhance the quality of service provided to Clients.

- t. Effective procedures to ensure that the persons that produce marketing communications and/or marketing material comply will all provisions of this Policy in relation to conflict of interests that may arise from the performance of their duties.
- u. Before the publication of marketing communications and/or marketing material, they are being reviewed for the purposes of verifying the accuracy of factual statements or for ensuring that they are in line with the Company's marketing guidelines and requirements.
- v. The Company shall maintain and regularly update the Conflicts of Interest register. It shall log all the conflicts of interest that may arise as a result of the provision of investment and ancillary services by or on behalf of the Company and it may entail a risk of damage to the interests of one or more Clients.
- w. The Senior Management of the Company shall receive on a frequent basis, and at least annually, written reports on the situations referred to in the Conflicts of Interest register.

The Company also undertakes on-going monitoring of business activities to ensure that internal controls to prevent or manage conflicts of interest are appropriate.

The Compliance Department shall be responsible for identifying and managing potential conflicts of interests and reporting directly to the Board of Directors and Senior Management in relation to the latter. The Compliance Department shall also update the relevant internal procedures and ensure compliance with such procedures.

6 Specific Identification of Conflict of Interest and Measures for their Management

The Company is constantly conducting an in-depth analysis of its business and organisational arrangements including best execution arrangements, inducement practices, remuneration practices and research/marketing communication procedures, to ensure that all likely conflict of interest situations are identified regardless of materiality. The Company has identified the following circumstances which give rise to a conflict of interest entailing a risk of damage to the interests of one or more Clients, as a result of providing investment services:

6.1 Remuneration of Staff:

The Company in accordance with its governing legislation does not remunerate its employees based on any factors that create conflicts of interest or are not in favor of the best interest of its Clients. The Company's employees maybe remunerated by (fixed and variable) components, based on Key Performance indicators within their departments, which are approved by the Compliance Function and Board of Directors. In order for the Company to manage the potential conflicts arising out of this practice, it has put in place the below procedures and arrangements regarding the variable remuneration:

- a. The variable Remuneration is not provided until a specific period of time has passed. Under this measure, the Company aims to lessen the risk of a short-term speculative mindset. The variable Remuneration practice is structured to align the long-term interests of the staff and the direct and continuous best interest of the Clients.
- b. The Company shall award variable Remuneration only when the relevant departments of the Company or/and the third-party service providers have conducted their duties according to the regulatory requirements (act clear, fair, and not misleading).

- c. The Company monitors via a variety of methods the Departments and the third-party providers that receive variable Remuneration (especially sales staff) in order to ensure whether they are acting on the best interest of their Clients. Company records all calls between the sales and Clients whereas Compliance performs sample checks of the recorded calls and makes a relevant monthly report to the Board of Directors of the Company.
- d. The Company proceeds with an on-going education of the key functions of the Company in order to update their knowledge and be consistent with the regulatory requirements (act clear, fair, and not misleading).

7 Client's Consent

By entering into a Client Agreement with the Company for the provision of Investment Services, the Client is consenting to an application of this Policy on him. Further, the Client consents to and authorizes the Company to deal with the Client in any manner which the Company considers appropriate, notwithstanding any conflict of interest or the existence of any material interest in a Transaction, without prior reference to the Client.

In the event that the Company is unable to deal with a conflict-of-interest situation it shall revert to the Client.

8 Disclosure of Information

The Company must adequately consider how to manage all conflicts of interest before resorting to disclosure. This will be a last resort after all appropriate steps have been taken.

If during the course of a business relationship with a Client or group of Clients, the organizational or administrative arrangements/measures in place are not sufficient to ensure, with reasonable confidence, that a conflict of interest relating to that Client or group of Clients will be prevented, avoided and/or mitigated, the Company will disclose the conflict of interest before undertaking further business with the Client or group of Clients.

The relevant disclosure will:

- a. be in a durable medium,
- b. clearly state that the organisational and administrative arrangements established by the Company to prevent or manage the conflicts are not sufficient to ensure, with reasonable confidence, that the risks of damage to the interests of the Client will be prevented,
- c. include a specific description of the conflicts of interest that arise in the provision of investment services and ancillary services,
- d. explain the risks to the Client that arise as a result of the conflicts of interest and the steps undertaken to mitigate these risks, and
- e. include sufficient detail, taking into account the nature of the Client, to enable the Client to make an informed decision with respect to the services in the context of which the conflict of interest arises.

If a Client decides not to go ahead with the service due to the conflict disclosed, the Company will have no choice but to decline the provision of services if the conflict cannot be effectively managed.

9 Record Keeping

The Company shall maintain and regularly update the Conflict-of-Interest register. It shall log all the conflicts of interest that may arise as a result of the provision of investment and ancillary services by or on behalf of the Company and it may entail a risk of damage to the interests of one or more Clients. This register will also be presented to the Board of Directors and the Senior Management on a frequent basis.

The following documentation shall be maintained for a minimum period of 5 (five) years:

- a. this policy, any functional variations if applicable,
- b. training material and training records,
- c. Notifications made by employees,
- d. Conflicts of interest registry,
- e. details of any review work carried out (including any decisions made on conflicts management), and
- f. any other documentation used to demonstrate the management of conflicts of interest.

The Company keeps and regularly updates a record of the types of investment or ancillary services, or investment activities carried out by or on behalf of the Company in which a conflict of interest entailing a risk of damage to the interests of one or more Clients has arisen or, in the case of an ongoing service or activity may arise. The records of such conflicts shall also include management reports in order for the Company to be in a position to disclose to its clients any case that its organizational and administrative arrangements are not sufficient to protect the client. This may suggest for the first time that investment firms will be required to disclose to their clients that the firms are not doing enough to manage their conflicts effectively.

10 Reporting of Conflict of Interest

The Senior Management of the Company shall receive on a frequent basis, and at least annually, written reports on the situations referred to in paragraph 9 above.

11 Amendment of the Policy and Additional Information

The Company reserves the right to review and/or amend its Policy and arrangements whenever it deems this appropriate without notice to the Client. Should you require any further information and/or have any questions about conflicts of interest please direct your request and/or questions to compliance@doofinancial.eu

This Policy does not represent part of the Company's Client Agreement and is not intended to be contractually binding or impose any obligations on the Company which it would not otherwise have, but for the Law.
